

All things are lawful unto me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawful for me, but I will not be brought under the power of any.
1 Corinthians 6:12

The world for me hath falsely set
 Full many a secret snare and net,
 Dark lies, delusions sweet and vain;
 Lord, hear my prayers, and break these snares,
 And make my path before me plain.

SIN, WHEN VIEWED BY SCRIPTURE LIGHT

by John Newton (1725–1807)

Sin, when viewed by scripture light,
 Is a horrid, hateful sight;
 But when seen in Satan's glass,
 Then it wears a pleasing face.

What before excited fears,
 Rather pleasing now appears;
 If a sin, it seems so small,
 Or, perhaps, no sin at all.

When the Gospel trumpet sounds,
 When I think how grace abounds,
 When I feel sweet peace within,
 Then I'd rather die than sin.

Often thus, through sin's deceit,
 Grief, and shame, and loss I meet,
 Like a fish, my soul mistook,
 Saw the bait, but not the hook.

When the cross I view by faith,
 Sin is madness, poison, death;
 Tempt me not, 'tis all in vain,
 Sure I ne'er can yield again.

O my Lord, what shall I say?
 How can I presume to pray?
 Not a word have I to plead,
 Sins, like mine, are black indeed!

Satan, for awhile debarred,
 When he finds me off my guard,
 Puts his glass before my eyes,
 Quickly other thoughts arise.

Made, by past experience, wise,
 Let me learn Thy Word to prize;
 Taught by what I've felt before,
 Let me Satan's glass abhor.
